SERIES HISTORY: Chicago faces the new franchise in the North Carolina Courage, formerly Western New York Flash, who won the 2016 NWSL Championship. The two teams faced each other twice last season and split the series, both taking a win at home. The lone goal for Chicago came off the feet of Casey Short, while Lianne Sanderson and Lynn Williams found the back of the net for the Flash. Overall, the two teams have battled to a 4-4-3 record since the inaugural season.

SCOUTING NORTH CAROLINA: The Courage suffered their first loss of 2017 after Orlando beat them 3-1, but remain first in the NWSL standings. In his first season guiding the team in 2016, Paul Riley led the team to the NWSL Championship, defeating Washington Spirit for the title. Jessica McDonald and Lynn Williams finished 2016 on top of the scoring chart and now with the added threat of Debinha, North Carolina is arguably one of the best offensive teams in the league. The team currently leads the NWSL in shots (70) and is second in shots on goal (33). Prior to the loss to Orlando, the Courage had allowed just one goal in their previous four matches.

2017 ROSTER: Chicago brings in three new players for the season with 2017 NWSL College Draft picks Lauren Kaskie and Morgan Proffitt, plus Summer Green who was acquired from Seattle during the offseason. During the preseason, Green was a highlight for the Red Stars offense, picking up three goals and the game-winning assist against the Houston Dash. The roster brings back a solid core with four U.S. Women's National Team players in Julie Ertz, Alyssa Naeher, Christen Press, and Casey Short, plus NWSL All-League members Sofia Huerta, Arin Gilliland and Danielle Colaprico. With the return of 17 players that accumulated 184 starts in 2016, Chicago will aim to have their experience lead them over FC Kansas City.

NEW NAME, NEW POSITION: During the 2017 NWSL preseason, Julie Johnston married Zach Ertz and has since become Julie Ertz. Ertz, 25, was moved to the centermid position in the second game of the season and was named to the NWSL Team of the Month for April. The U.S. WNT star has scored in both home games in 2017, the only two goals scored by Chicago.

RED STARS MILESTONES: With a start against the Boston Breakers at Toyota Park, Vanessa DiBernardo has now started in 33 consecutive matches. The co-captian has appeared in 50 consecutive matches. The last game that she missed was in her rookie season on July 26, 2014.

YOUNG & EXPERIENCED SQUAD: The Red Stars have one of the youngest rosters in the league, with a combined average age of 24.45, with seven players 23 years old or younger. However, a majority of the team has been together for three seasons, including the 2015 NWSL Draft class of Danielle Colaprico, Arin Gilliland and Sofia Huerta.

TOP-NOTCH GOALKEEPERS: During the 2016 season, with the combination of goalkeepers Alyssa Naeher and Michele Dalton, Chicago only allowed 22 goals. The Red Stars conceded the second fewest goals in the league, averaging just one goal per match. Through five matches in 2017, Naeher has a 0.80 GAA and came up with a huge save in the last match that earned her NWSL Save of the Week.

BACK-TO-BACK PLAYOFFS: The Red Stars earned a spot in the playoffs for the second year in a row in 2016 and were paired against Washington Spirit. Chicago lost in double overtime in a heart-breaking match for the squad. In 2015, Chicago sealed a spot in the playoffs by finishing the regular season in second place with 33 points, becoming the host city for one of the semifinal matches.

NEXT MATCH: Chicago will play host to North Carolina as the two are scheduled for back-to-back matches. The game will take place on Saturday, May 27 at 3 PM.

MATCH PREVIEW

Chicago Hosts Boston in Week 5 Action

CHICAGO - The Red Stars look to continue their undefeated home streak as they take on the Boston Breakers on Mother's Day, May 14. Kickoff will be at 5 p.m. CT at Toyota Park.

Chicago continued on an undefeated home streak after shutting out Houston, 2-0, thanks to an own goal and Julie Ertz' second goal of the season. Back on track, the Red Stars jumped up to third place after Week 4, with a 2-2-0 record and six points.

During the 2016 season, the Red Stars defensive unit conceded the second fewest goals in the league, averaging just one goal against per match. Once again, it's Chicago's defense that has kept them in the game, allowing only 40 shots, third lowest in the league.

"It's very difficult to take points in this league," said defender Samantha Johnson. "We've taken the initiative to be the best defensive team and that's what we strive for in our games, home and away."

The Red Stars have only faced 16 shots on goal, the second lowest of any team. A major change in the backline is second-year defender Katie Naughton seamlessly filling into the centerback position, allowing Ertz' the freedom to attack in the midfield position the past three matches.

"There hasn't been much of a difference in the back line," said Johnson. "We all have very different styles of defending, which is why when we rotate center backs. We are still strong because our individual strengths compliment each other."

Chicago will come up against a new Boston team, carrying over just six players from 2016 to sit in fifth place in the standings so far. The Breakers current record of 2-2-0 is the best start they've had since the inaugural year in 2013, allowing just three goals.

Last weekend, Boston fell to front-runners North Carolina Courage 1-0, earning them their first home loss of 2017. As the Breakers hold a 58.8% shooting accuracy, forwards Adrianna Leon, Natasha Dowie and midfielders Rose Lavelle and Rosie White all average over 70% of their shots on goal.

"Boston has a new team and shouldn't be taken lightly," said Johnson. "They have some key threats in the midfield and forward positions that we will have to be ready for."

Watch Chicago live in action on Sunday, May 14 at Toyota Park against the Boston Breakers, starting at 5 p.m. CT by getting tickets here. The match will be streamed live on go90 or NWSLsoccer.com.
